

Emma Jacob "Julianna"

Visit "Julianna" on MotoLyrics.com

It's ten degrees you're gonna freeze in those spaghetti straps

And you don't care that you can barely walk in heels like that

Cause what's a little pain if someone thinks your beautiful

You flash a smile and in a while the bouncer lets you through

You take those drinks because you think they're gonna make you cool

What's a little high if someone finds you beautiful

Oh but that's not you at all

Julianna you don't have to that to be loved

Julianna how I wish you knew, you knew you were enough

The morning light burns in your eyes and it just hurts to breath

You grab your dress beside the bed you find the door and leave

And on your way back home you don't feel so beautiful

Oh why can't I get through to you

Julianna you don't have to do that to be loved

Julianna how I wish you knew, you knew you were enough

You've got so much to give don't throw it all away

Oh ya

Julianna how I wish you knew, you knew you were enough

Julianna you don't have to do that to be loved

Julianna oh I wish you knew, you knew you were enough

