you were always my everything but sometimes ou were all I had don't be surprised at the contempt in my voice why should you be?
you have used your every word against me you are deception personified your illusions no longer hold me I lost faith in what my eyes beheld sightless my every turn has been met with futility what little I could perceive ensnared my progress lost lost in darkness i only fell faster I followed you faithfully it was to no avail I held you in the highest of places and you let me down you failed me I want my blood to ignite you hands
