We live for the greater, We live for the good
At least that's what I thought, She understood So why then the phone call, The torrent of words That dismissed the past decades, And deemed them absurd?

And what did you think about, Think about with her?
And what did you talk about, Talk about with her?

There's nothing that I wouldn't do, To remedy this thing for you
If silence means that much to you, Then I promise to keep silent, too
Bear in mind one final thing, The solitude that it will bring If silence outlives everything, The residue will never thin

Deny me the first time, Deny me then twice
But not once again, If you value this life
The oldest is broken, The youngest clings on But the middle tries hard, To still belong

And what did you think about, Think about with her?
And what did you talk about, Talk about with her?
There's nothing that I wouldn't do, To remedy this thing
for you
If silence means that much to you, Then I promise to
keep silent, too
Bear in mind one final thing, The solitude that it will bring
If silence outlives everything, The residue will never
thin

Buried alive, And with nobody watching Severed all ties, With the mother of lies No circle of friends, No scattering ashes Just hang up the line, And pray you'll be fine

And what did you think about, Think about with her?
And what did you talk about, Talk about with her?

There's nothing that I wouldn't do, To remedy this thing
for you
If silence means that much to you, Then I promise to
keep silent, too
Bear in mind one final thing, The solitude that it will bring
If silence outlives everything, The residue will never
thin
