La, la, so right
La, la, la, la, la, la
La, la, la, la, la, la

You're the prize I'm playing for
Spill the pieces on the floor
Lights are flickering
What did I get myself into?

Staring at the empty space
Searching for the one embrace
Of this mystery
What did I get myself into?

So deeply moving
Getting closer 'til you reach
Right through me
You fit me, so right

And all you've waited for is right beside you
And none that came before come close to you
I want you to know that everything
You do is deeply moving me

Like a star to the sky
Like the darkness to the night
You're the missing part
I finally find myself with you

Colors turn from black and white
The world is bursting into light
As it starts to clear
I finally find myself with you

So deeply moving
Getting closer 'til you reach
Right through me
You fit me, so right

And all you've waited for is right beside you
And none that came before come close to you
I want you to know that everything

You do is deeply moving me
