(Charlie Louvin - Ira Louvin)

Everytime you leave you tear the soul from me
I die a little more each time we part
I can't control my dreams, my heart can't seem to learn
To run and lock its door when you return.

I know that you'll come back again as soon as you get blue
And I know what will happen then one kiss and I'll give one to you
Everytime you leave you tear the soul from me
But I want to live so I'll forgive everytime you leave.

--- Instrumental ---

Everytime you leave you tear the soul from me
But I want to live so I'll forgive everytime you leave...
