Last night I thought I felt your arms around me
But woke to find that it was just a dream
Though you're gone I find you constantly surround me Ohh, just something else that keeps your memory
green

I go out and try my hand at startin' over
But find it hard to break the old routine
'Cause I wind up seein' you in each new lover Ohh, just something else that keeps your memory
green
Time should be a cure for a heartache
A healing melody for shattered dreams
But I swear sometimes I hear you say you love me Ohh, just something else that keeps your memory
green

Time should be a cure for a heartache
A healing melody for shattered dreams
Oh, but I swear sometimes I hear you say you love me Ohh, just something else that keeps your memory
green
Just something else that keeps your memory green
