These times they mean so much.
It's all about love and family.
No one can ever hold us down.
No one can ever hold us back.
Stuck it out through all the hardships,
but troubled times have come our way but in the end
we'll prevail.
I accept the challeng to change our destiny.
Gouge out our eyes and judge us blind.
We refuse to take your judgements and your lies.
The lives you've turned away will be your true demise.
But this is something you will not take from me, it's in my heart forever.
FOREVER
And now the time has come for us to rise again, too bad it came to this.
