I walk the streets alone
See pictures of you on the billboards
You finally made it on your own
Congratulations from my side
A whiff of jealousy
Is increasing deep inside of me
Like slightly losing gravity
So I'm casting an evil spell right on me

Compared to you I am weak
Another statistic casualty
Give me some moments to regret what I did
Oh what a misery
I almost lost every little thing you know what!
You're the only one
You're the air that I breathe

You're reaching for the stars
You're well known and driving fancy cars
You already forgot who you are?
You're becoming useless after all
Another star is born

Do you really think you wrote this song?
You can't deny it,
Can't deny it
As fast as they raise,
They fall

Compared to you I am weak
Another statistic casualty
Give me some moments to regret what I did
Oh what a misery
I almost lost every little thing you know what!
You're the only one
You're the air that I breathe

You're the air that I breathe

Compared to you I am strong
Cause I know where I am coming from

These are the moments to conceive where you are at
Oh what a misery
You almost lost every little thing you know what You're not the only one
You mean nothing to me
