I saw the youth dancing on top of the world
Killing violence forever
I felt the truth, a scream heard from from above
Memories fade but faith grows inside

And it's so clear now
It's so pure now

Because tonight, tonight, tonight
Is the first time you smile
It's the first time you scream

The tide inside will rise

I saw the old man wearing a doll's dress
He said, "This land is yours so take it now
And plant the seeds of love and beauty and then Forget about regrets, forget about me"

Can you remember your name
Tonight the pain is over
