

End Of Destiny

"The Day The World Fell Down"

Visit "The Day The World Fell Down" on MotoLyrics.com

I woke up this morning and realized that the entire world had fallen down everyone died in the aftermath there were no survivors I stood in the distance and didn't do a thing a testament to the fact that I was never there their souls screaming in self inflicted agony Move along, Move along these aren't the answers we're looking for Ten thousand horror stories marching in a chorus of the damned I never thought my idle words would cause storms I brought the world down in my flames and now we wonder what to do next but the only thing left to do is to call on Christ and hope He hears our call.

Visit End Of Destiny page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.