A bizarre mess of a humanoid hanging from his face by hooks

Hanging by his mouth from a device

Whose purpose is beyond the human comprehension?

In his genius perversity he created an external womb for himself

A semi-translucent bang hung from the lower portion of his abdomen

A fetus in between his legs where his genitals should be

The pain was excruciating

A vicious hallucinogen

Inhuman bloodlust

Being all the more grotesque

With an obscure spine-like piece

Disgorged onto the ground amongst the corpses

Running up to connect various tubes going into himself

His facial expression and eyes are painful

A sickening creature to behold

A large cavity of organs where it appears flesh has been torn

With no remains of normal genitalia

Discovering the worst pain imaginable

His back has been split wide
