

Enemy You "By Design"

You say we're lovers, i say we're fighters
If you want some proof why don't check out the nightly news
You want one justice, I want admission (of guilt)
Turn our backs on reality, we applaud the token truth
The burden of logic it seems we live to betray
Blinding our reason emotion gets in the way
For every act of cogitation there's a thousand of hate
Every moment of every day I'm introverted, but so destructive
My existence and my lifetimme won't match the waste I'll leave behind
And I am caring, ten times more hateful
Human in my nature and guilty by design
