I'm tired,
I'm waiting,
The neons pulsating.
Can anybody hear me,
'Cause this life is draining?

It's living
And breathing.
Cold concrete,
It's seething.
Built on both sweat and bone
This place is defeating.

They've cars that cost over 5 thousands pounds.
So many faces in the ground
Tall towers break the sky.
The concrete roads between your towns.

Tell me this is my home
You're the one
The only one that I trust
Tell me there's nothing else
You're the one that's gonna break down.

These buildings
Are sprawling.
On dark roads,
Are crawling

The sights and sound so thrilling
This city is killing

They've cars that cost over 5 thousands pounds.
So many faces in the ground
Tall towers break the sky.
The concrete roads between your towns.

Tell me this is my home
You're the one
The only one that I trust
Tell me there's nothing else
You're the one that's gonna break down.

Tell me this is my home
You're the one
The only one that I trust
Tell me there's nothing else
You're the one that's
Gonna break down.
You're gonna break down
Gonna break down
You're gonna break down.
