Â“Redemption - The Death of VanityÂ”

Words by Steven Sagala, Music By Steve Stell/Eric Kawa

The lines have been drawn
Mark the ground with ashes
Forget me not
I am the icon of the masses
The tables will turn, another will burn
The blindness now revealing
In darkness defiled, a work in denial
The leper is so appealing

Redemption Â– crawling in the depths of a thousand scars
Is this what youÂ’re dying for?
Redemption Â– crawling in the depths of a thousand
scars
To become the savior

Cowards! Cowards!
They hide behind their salient walls
Lash out towards the ignorant
No mercy for the innocent

Autocratic?
Democratic?
Or a population overkill?
One by one
The image that will fade away

I stalk you in the night
Without warning and out of sight
I donÂ’t care whatÂ’s wrong or right
Â‘Cause it all ends here tonight
Your blood is as good as gold
Another victim waiting to be sold
Watch out, you may be next
Down at my feet just like all of the rest
