You can try to break me but i won't give up
I got the feelings of unity and that will keep me up
When we stands united the rules belong to us
This fight is here for you and me, and for those who will resist

Come and see what's on the other side
This is something for the brave of mind, of mind

So don't just stand there, come on and raise your fist
This fight is here for you and me, and for those who
will resist

Come and see what's on the other side
This is someting for the brave of mine
Give the others one to think about
This is how we make the evening rise

Come and see what's on the other side
This is someting for the brave of mine
Give the others one to think about
This is how we make the evening rise, rise
