Is there a way to take it back
Cause it took this long to see I was wrong
I should have always been there for you
How many times did you come to me
But I was someplace else
Consumed by everything
Believing all the praise
You always wanted a second from my life
But I, I couldn't spare the time
One word, one sign
Was all you ever needed
And where was I
You can count on me was all I ever said
How many times did you come to me
But I was someplace else
I should have always been there for you
You always wanted a second from my life
But I, I couldn't spare the time
One word, one sign
Was all you ever needed
And where was I
You can count on me was all I ever said
One word, one sign
Was all you ever needed
And where was I
You can count on me was all I ever
All I ever said
