DonæŠ° hold me up to be Something that læŠ! not
I never said I had all the answers
Or that I didnæŠ° make mistakes
You need someone to believe in
But læŠ! the same as you
And I canæŠ° make the promise
That læŠ! never let you down
Why should I sacrifice myself
So you can think that we feel the same
My life, my actions
Are scarred with imperfections
I never asked to be a hero
DonæŠ° make me play that role
You want someone to look up to læŠ! afraid it isnæŠ° me
I wonæŠ° be the one to save your soul
Why should I sacrifice myself
So you can think that we feel the same
What happens when I let you down
What makes my words so important
That they stand above the rest
All youæŠ³e done is isolate me
And make me feel out of place
Is it the real me, that you want to know
Or who you think I should be
These walls that stand between us
Are walls that donæŠ° belong
All youæŠ³e done is separate us
Is that really what you want
