I refuse to sit back and watch the days go by
Content with doing nothing, hands held by my side
Now's the time to rise up and truly make a change
We can make a difference can you say the same
Look back in the end
I can say we tried
We chose a different path
And kept the dreams alive
The strength of my conviction
Will never fade away
Who knows about tomorrow
At least we had today
Will we really change, the shape of things to come
Will we reach our goals when all is said and done
I can't safely say what happens in the end
But I'm strong in my belief I'm doing all I can
Look back in the end
I can say we tried
We chose a different path
And kept the dreams alive
The strength of my conviction
Will never fade away
Who knows about tomorrow
At least we had today.....today
Looking back at all we've done
We haven't changed a thing
But still we try so hard to bring about a change
Maybe it's all for nothing
Maybe we'll never win
What I feel is just too strong, strong for giving in It's times like this I'm proud, to say I've done my part
These days live on forever, I'll keep them in my heart
In my heart
