feel the ground it's slipping away like a sigh that greets the close of day feel the waters' welcoming arms embrace me in the quiet calm i can't hear what you say anymore just the sound of trees on the ocean floor irresistably drawn from the shore chorus:

i'm drowning in your eyes i'm floating out to sea helpless on the restless tide that flows between you and me moving slowly as if in a dream the colours change from blue to green all around me reflections of you in forests deep i'm passing through in the swell of the storm we're as one we're dancing in the morning sun could it be that we've only just begun chorus x 2

lying here beside you try to reach you but you're so far....

i'm drowning in your eyes
i'm drowning in your eyes
i'm drowning in your eyes
