You're eternal, my love
For me, you're all there ever was
Every limit overcome
As were entangled, we are one

Words are left unsaid burning in my head
Now I only wish I could hold you again
Being there with you I feel at ease
Being there with you is all

I ever need
My one belief
We share a common energy
I've flown afar beyond the sea
To find the other side of me
I've waited long and patiently
To find the one to balance me
To live without dubiety
This is my covenant to thee

Life feels empty, my love
It pains me so to give you up

Sentiments untold never to unfold
Now I only wish I could hold you again
Being there with you I'm whole again
Being there with you is all

I ever need
My one belief...

Ever need, my one belief

You're all I need
My one belief
The winds of time will carry me
To live without dubiety
Don't let this ever end

We've flown afar
Beyond the sea

To find each other finally
We've waited long and patiently
To build a bridge between dualities
