Don't say you want a better world
Don't say you want a better life
When all you do is just rely on the progresses of science
Don't say another word, just let me dream
And look outside
where the wind blows and the flowers grow
Where the river goes
Taking my dreams away
Just let me go
Where the rain falls and the forest cries
Since there will be no more snow in Kilimandjaro
Don't say you want a better world
Don't say you want a breathe clean air
When all you do is drive around
In your brand new SUV
Don't say you want a better world
For all the children of mankind
When all you do is just rely
on the progresses of science
Don't say another word, just let me dream

And look outside

where the wind blows and the flowers grow

Where the river goes

Taking my dreams away

Just let me go

Where the rain falls and the forest cries

Since there will be no more snow in Kilimandjaro
