

Eric Clapton

"When You're Gone"

Visit "When You're Gone" on MotoLyrics.com

Like a shadow on my wall you can make my neckskin crawl and you don't have to say or do a thing at all to catch me when I fall Like the bloom of dandelions you send shivers down my spine and I will never lose my faith when you're mine to me you are devine

When you're gone
there's a song to support me
when you're here
you're the song I hear
you bring music everywhere

Like an angel from above you're an undivided love and when I close my eyes it's you I'm thinking of peace you bring, little dove

When you're gone
there's a song to support me
when you're here
you're the song I hear
you bring music everywhere

And the stars form constellations in your eyes maybe that's why it's so hard to say goodbye and your precence makes me more than flesh and bone but when you slip away my inside turns to stone
when you're here
you're a song my dear
you bring music everywhere

Visit Eric Clapton page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.