All this time
Fighting your own mind
Then you turn to call for destiny

Lack of spine
Oh you think you'll find
A way to figure out what's meant to be

When you sleep at night
And everything seems so right
Then you think it's over
But it's never over

All the times you lied
And every sign that you denied
You might think it's over
But it's never over

Watch your feet
How they miss the beat
A shame when you were first in line
For a better life when you close your eyes
I'm sorry but nothing here is yours for free

When you sleep at night
And everything seems so right
Then you think it's over
But it's never over

All the times you lied
And every sign that you denied
You might think it's over
But it's never over

When you sleep at night
And everything seems so right
Then you think it's over
But it's never over

All the times you lied
And every sign you denied
You might think it's over

But it's never over
