

Erin Bode

"Holiday"

Visit "Holiday" on MotoLyrics.com

Every time I see you looking blue I feel like crying
It's an autumn painted sky I'm holding to Every time I see you start to fall my heart goes flying
There's a caution underneath a yellow moon

Every time I see the falling leaves I start to feel like I used to
Back when late October fate was feeling right
Every time a street light flashes by my car I see you
It's not too late to get it straight to get in right

[Chorus]

If my heart should break, I can't leave the season
It's the chance I'll have to take
I'll put all my fortune
I'll put all my love at stake, for a holiday

Everywhere I go it seems to me you're right there with me
It's an autumn painted sky I'm holding to Everywhere I've been it seems to me I might have been to
There's a caution underneath a yellow moon

Every time I see the falling leaves I start to feel like I used to
Back when late October fate was feeling right
Every time a street light flashes by my car I see you
It's not too late to get it straight to get in right

[Chorus]

Visit Erin Bode page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.