We spun from the ceiling
On the floor we found startling view
No, door that's good for leaving
Walls crush me right back into you

We're such a lovely mess
Hearts have left a wreck
It's beautiful I guess

Grey songs in the morning
Sadder still afternoon
I gave back bed in silence
Longest day is ending soon

We're such a lovely mess
Hearts have left a wreck
It's beautiful I guess

Most of the time
We sing our happy songs
Both of us tried
To sing each other's songs

So long to the distance
Farewell to walls we stumbled through and through
And that door that's good for leaving
The heart has walls that are hard and true

We're such a lovely mess
Hearts have left a wreck
I'm lonely, I confess
It's beautiful I guess
