

Erin O' Donnell

"You Knew"

Visit "You Knew" on MotoLyrics.com

Something's tearing open in the atmosphere
A hurting that can never come undone
Someone who was here is now gone for good
And I am wondering how to carry on

But you are not surprised
You are not afraid of what I can't get my head around You were standing by and...

Chorus:
You knew what the future held
That now's the time I have to face the thing I fear the most
And you knew that life would knock me down
But you would break my fall and get me to the place where I could say
That although I can't see what you do, you knew

The sky is black and time feels like it's standing still
And I don't think I want to see the world
All I have to lean on is what You have done
But sometimes that feels like another life

Cause you are not a man
That I might know your mind or how it is you're changing me
It's hard to understand that...

Chorus

This is not the end
You don't leave a single thing undone
My comfort is in knowing you knew

Visit Erin O' Donnell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.