see you when your eyes are black I'm not going back can't find the words to say you disobey, then you piss and moan if I took it all away
you couldn't say
we're way too far from home
I see your light shines so bright right through your very soul

and when the stars align
you know it's time
ashes into gold
you disobey, then you piss and moan
