my mouth is dry, my hands are dirty yeah I can fly, but it's still early the more I look at you is the more I feel the same and I can always tell when somethings wrong same routine, same old story you smell like nicotine and you're drunk and horny hate to see you go, but love to watch you walk away you won't be gone for long wicked woman you're so mad what is wrong in your head?

what is wrong in your head?

you're a fiend and you know it you silly fiends you really show it you've waited for hours and there's nothing left to give you leave your footprints in the sand you breathe the air and you know it and when you sit and stare you can't control it take a look at the photograph and then the tears run down my window and I'm the one guy here that understands

what is wrong in your head?
what is wrong in your head?

you

the same routine, the same old story you smell like nicotine and you're drunk and horny

you wicked woman
you wicked woman
you wicked woman
you wicked woman
