Try a run, try a hide
Escape your only truth for a while
Live the past, create a picture, it won't last
A million colors to a lie, it won't last

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon

Brighter days on a distant shore
You realized, it's steep to the top
Never fight, a never win reality
A million colors to a lie that will fade

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon

So good, let me lose myself
So good, let me lose myself
So good, let me lose myself
So good, let me lose myself

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon

When the sun is cold and black
When you wanna scream and shout
And the record plays the dark side of the moon
