A western sky is glowing
Calling off the day
Fading rays of live sunsets
Caressing my feet on my way

A shade in the horizon
Quivers in the haze
Whisper near right by my ear
And these are the words that he said:

If you love your woman up to the maximum
Tell her if hold on, hold on strong

Orange eyes of embers
Gleaming in the night
Guard us until break of dawn
Blessing the ground where we stay

The eastern sky is glowing now
In reddish shades of grey
With promises of life and love
And I wanna cherish the day

If you love your woman up to the maximum
Tell her if hold on, hold on strong
