I don't know how I could believe
In something that impossible
Can't believe that I could be so blind
Could be so pathetic, so wrong
You are just a part of the game
You know that now I've got nothing left to blame

You were everything
You were it all, you were the whole world
Before you started believing
I could make it all wrong, just for you to stop

I don't know you, well like I used to
You know that you're just a gamecard
Just a (fucking) part of the game
Before you started believing
You gave me luck not pain

Are you starting to work
You love this, don't you
You're pushing me lower and lower
