Trying to tear me apart, breaking me down to the bone
So listen closely, cause what you don't see
That there's not blood inside this beating heart
Still beating, still breathing
Falling from grace, you have been replaced
But you are the one who will leave with the beating

With bleeding hands I fight for a life that's beat me down
Stand up and scream while the rest of the world won't make a sound

Rising again from the fire, a thing that's alive and expired
You can't erase me, won't even phase me
No one hears a fucking word you say
Still beating, still breathing
Falling from grace, you have been replaced
But you are the one who will leave with the beating

With bleeding hands I fight for a life that's beat me down
Stand up and scream while the rest of the world won't make a sound
With bleeding hands I fight with the pride left in me now
Stand up and scream while the rest of the world won't make a sound

Stand and scream [4x]

[Guitar solo]

With bleeding hands I fight for a life that's beat me down
Stand up and scream while the rest of the world won't make a sound
With bleeding hands I fight with the pride left in me now
Stand up and scream while the rest of the world won't make a sound

With bleeding hands, with bleeding hands, we stand up and scream while the rest of the world wont make a sound (Stand and scream [4x])
