It's so sad
Something you've never had
Drove us apart
Drove us away from it all
And it looks as though we never really drowned and it looks as though we never really found
What makes it all worth while?
is it a smile on every brother we meet
or else
is it the truth that every sister will speak?
every brother we meet took us all up from the streets
It's so sad
Something you've never had
Drove us apart
Drove us away from it all
And it looks as though we never really found
What makes it all worth while?
or else
is it the truth that every sister will speak?
every brother we meet
every sister will speak picked us all up from the streets
