If you try to get close to me, be prepared, it might hurt cause i live like the human i am so my nails, will catch some dirt dont expect a knight on a horse to come rescue the princess in you I got me on my mind , i put myself first and so should you

mmm...don't you listen to the choir of jealous people full of hate
if they have nothing better in their life i swear inside they ache...they ache

Whatever this town, makes you think of me
I'll still be around, when the final bell rings
Whatever this town, makes you think of me
What you see right now is who i am

If you find this too hard to survive, please think before u say farewell without the history of my past i would be, an empty shell the bags that we carry around contain fragments of yesterday the heavier load, the harder to cope, but gas for the grey

mmm...don't you listen to the choir of jealous people
full of hate
if they have nothing better in their life i swear inside
they ache...they ache

Whatever this town, makes you think of me
I'll still be around, when the final bell rings
Whatever this town, makes you think of me
What you see right now is who i am

There's nothing that they can do, this city hasn't already done there's no need to be scared so i laugh in their face when they pull their gun

Whatever This Town, makes you think of me
I'll still be around, when the final bell rings
Whatever This Town, makes you think of me
What you see right now is who i am
