Born with a future of our past illuminate and fall against the grain be transformed reborn is the one whose been called not forced under to fall fall to the merciless fire cut off and be set apart will you seek shelter when the world is convinced that you deserve to die for your love inside your heart seeks pleasure will you be grasped by it or captive will it held by him forever when deceptive thoughts come into men's minds and aim them at you what will you do accept and dismiss truth as lies or reject and be pulled to an end for this the cause lovelorn Jesus will I have I the product of denial is a reoccurring thought before your very eyes a solution forms take the mantle that's been worn it sounds better than the truth pass it on it won't go away the awareness of the absence the fear of departure knowledge of real truth it's inside the burning the gaping hole that makes your tear stained face but He will wash it away don't be deceived on this day only righteousness will stand this message is as love and to you given a letter of hope because I love youâ€¦I love you
