I saw you standing in the shadow of my doubt Inside the heart of some old stranger looking out

If God could see you then you wouldn't cried for sure Of all the ones that suffered, no one suffered more

Can I read your mind?
Can I read your mind?
Baby, let me read your mind
Then baby you can read mine

And now you're lying in the spider web I spin You realize there is no way for you to win

You're breathing shallow with a dying love affair Try and look and find that no one's living there

Can I read your mind?
Can I read your mind?
Baby, let me read your mind
