I came to pay with my soul, for thee refused to obey.
For thine omnipresent inequity.
Never the less I shall try to save thee
If you feel what I feel it wont be you anymore
With your phobia to know the consciousness
The purpose of the world is a lore demystified by no one.
Neither a few like me do comprehend Evaluation of the species is a game with given results
I hunger to experience the one of yours
I am the one who I selder than thine universe, who saw it's death Same one as of the others. I am not alone because what lives, dies
I am here forever (of your time). I know the portrait of the world
We're looking for thw wormhole bridges that lead to the Universes in the sphere of space - time continuum Lterations of everything imaginable in our hostile multidimensional residence

We lost our very faith for you have betrayed your children
You left our souls abandoned, left all alone
We have strived, we really tried for better lives.
Despite all you haven't arrived through the gate in time Our soldiers are prepared, deadly weapons are primed.
Foes are awating us, they're about to die Vanish in killing air, while our army attacks, Victory is sweet with the scent of blood and tears There are no true gods for you to pray to, none shall listen to you
You are on your own to realize the truth
I have fought for thee, for thy liberty to see, ye reward is lost, even out of my reach Fallen, ostracized messiah, I shall be gone now My exodus to another realm soon shall be done.
