

Estatic Fear "Chapter IX"

Visit "Chapter IX" on MotoLyrics.com

The Dawn arose, the slumbers shadows have passed
The autumnal grace which so kindly has cast
It's sombre yet gracious delight on my grief
Enshrouded and lulled by the winters far deeper relief

As weary my days will grow from leisure apart
I shall wait for your powers renewed
I pray to whatever there be
"Let be my heard by your tenderness again imbued."

Cura a die renovato cedit

Dolor et laetitia conjungtus est

Delightful shade was all that I dared hope for Thy silent charm alone remains to adore.
