

Esther Ofarim

"Margret"

Visit "Margret" on MotoLyrics.com

I waited for a hundred years,
all I did was wait every day, all day, every hour,
every second, all time.
I waited for a hundred years,
all I did was wait every day, all day long, every hour,
every second, all time.
Now when I look back,
it seems that I waited for only one day.
Now when I look back
it seems that I waited for only one day.
I waited for a hundred years,
all I did was wait every day, all day long, every hour,
every second, all time.

(Eberhard Schoener:)
You think that maybe I've lost my mind and you'll be the one to help me find it pretending it's yours
And so I tell you we are going to turn into a dream and then we'll be in real trouble.

I waited for a hundred years,
all I did was wait every day, all day long,
I waited for a hundred years,
Now when I look back,
it seems that I waited for only one day,
a day that lasted a thousand years,
a day that lasted a thousand years.
And I'll wait for you another hundred years,
all I'll do is wait, every day, all day long,
every hour, every second, all the time

Visit Esther Ofarim page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.