

Esther Ofarim

"Voyage"

Visit "Voyage" on MotoLyrics.com

Through unknown waters
I travel aboard my ship Simpling many others that float on oceans and seas for a long time I loaded my ship with all I possessed

Then I painted it with China colours taking care to paint it too

And after I waited for a long time finally came the hour to leave port

Time goes by

And I start fixing my goals
But not that they bland at the start

I now sit in front of this voyage of mine with no fear of the landing at all

I know my ship's value and I know the values I carry with me

I travel on and you keep on missing to me

The voyage is oh alive and the ship is yourself A ship that's never thrown anchor and a ship that never will do

Nor the anchor of feelings
nor the anchor of desires
Nor the anchor of feelings
nor the anchor of desires

For you shall never give up
For you shall never give up
You shall never tire of dreaming your dreams
You shall never tire of dreaming your dreams

