"Crash"

Crash down on the floor, hold your breath and fall apart.
You made a simple mistake and now you're paying for it with your heart.
Some of us make our own beds, but we can't afford to lay in them,
Remember I've always have said you should leave me alone.

'cause I don't wanna crash, now I'm afraid
That I'm going nowhere way too fast.
I can't hear what you say, I'm in a conversation with my past.
Well maybe I wasn't that brave, so much as brazen but that got me through,
And somehow the path that I paved just keeps leading me to you.

But I don't wanna crash now,
I don't wanna crash now.
