

Estradasphere

"Arcane Fallacies"

Visit "Arcane Fallacies" on MotoLyrics.com

Swills of rogues into my frame left me with one sin, and rotting ankles to support these plaintive calls to you. Nebulous visions were played for me, soundtracked in keys of cold.....a nervous act is all i see. With time away from thoughts that i know, my sight won't be a way to notice what is real...so lie to me. Two hands eviscerating what gives life to these bones. With time away from thoughts that i know, my sight won't be a way to notice what is real...so lie to me. I've wondered why the clocks fear your name...Will you wait with me before these shrill sounds bombinate behind my eyes? For this malignity will decimate. Time bounds my spine to images on this course...and now i find my arm above a sea of glass. As life spills down my fingers, i beg of you to take hold. And she's so scared, and i see it from the way her heart dropped to her knees. I hear insects of carnal ways delving deeper in me. It's a cause for reproach from this hoax i call my name. With time away from thoughts that i know, my sight won't be a way to notice what is real...so lie to me. I've wondered why the clocks fear your name...you wait for none.

Visit Estradasphere page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.