

Eternal "A Pale Reflection"

Visit "A Pale Reflection" on MotoLyrics.com

Take a look at the years decay
I don't deny the words they say anymore
Behind this crumbling wall I hide
Beneath it's depths, I surrender all inside

... And what has become of me
A pale reflection used to be...

I can't recall the last time
I saw the world through my own eyes
... the only gain is my demise

There's a reason I can't find
I can't escape the slide of it's decline
Coursing through my fingers
With no influence, it lingers

... And what has become of me
A pale reflection used to be...

I can't recall the last time
I saw the world through my own eyes
... the only gain is my demise

With the winds came a change
And casting shadows slipped away
I don't deny the words they say
About a man left in ruins

... And what has become of me
A pale reflection of what used to be...

Visit Eternal page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.