Friends for long, yet now its bygone gone like winter fades to spring Leaving marks in our heart like red-cryed eyes leaves a salty taste, as it flows free down our face to end up on a pillow and then be forgotten with time

Sworn friendship supposed to last forever Ended such fast as it had begun,
Your decision of a shortcut, instead of rising up on your feet still seems inconceivable

Like a scared little one, crying in the corner
You left me behind in pain

"What choises does a leaf have,
When the autumn appears" was the last question you had before you ended your days
It can only fall, no matter how much it wants to live, It can only fall...

Goodbye my friend, now when i'm alone
I'm keeping the memory of you alive
The picture of you smiling remains in my heart, someday it's my turn I will never forget you
