Set up above the trees

Look out over these streets haven't seen you in years

And now with your hand on the leash you cry

Conscience grips him firm

Patience wore her down

You can't tell me that it's not what it seems
Because somehow i think that i'm incomplete

Away from grace

In through calm

I found life away from life can take a year off your life

And in your grace you found me a crown of my own
