Bleed hearts talking on the phone

How long does it take to count all the faces in the room who don't pray any way like you

Church room full of painted masks

Silver surfer melting wax takes on shapes of crucifixes on some child's head

Breath, why are you so shy?
Kitchen sink full of ants carry sugar down the walls

Every sweetening has been made off

A mailman walking up the fence a dog bark heard inside my head

These are the things that keep me from the truth, the truth

Breath, why are you so shy?
