You don't know what you want anymore so just come on over

Make me a headband to keep all the rain out and come on over

Turn all your lights down it's getting so close i can finally see

All my friends said she's not my lover no longer the other

Make me a raincoat to keep all the sun out and come
on over

Expect me to laugh now.

Give me one second to make the status quo give me one moment

You don't know who you love anymore so just come on

Send me a postcard address it to no one come on over
