You've been asking what will it take
Will I ever again trust your face
Forgive you for past mistakes
Well why should I when my life's been based
On instincts that aren't in your traits
Some things we learned in the race

I see the sound
I will find my way
It's endless it's endless
I see the sound
I will find my way
It's endless it's endless

A lifetime of color gone in one blink of black
I'd rather live in gray than go back
Why go back
And all the pain that clothed me

Reminds me your motives attack
But baby there's no love in that
You said you're dying you're dying to try this Well maybe you're gonna die trying Doing just enough just enough to get by
And all these words they leave me exposed
They'll never compare to the word
I've yet to disclose

I see the sound
I will find my way
It's endless it's endless
I see the sound
I will find my way
It's endless it's endless
I will find my way
I will find my way
