"First Heard Your Name"

Every day I rise up, with the sunshine tapping on my window,
I close my eyes and I'm right there with you,
Every single step that I've taken, fallen,
Dancing, laughing, crying in the rain, it was right there with you,
But everything is changing you're still on my mind,
And I don't know if I will be the same,
My love, my life, I want to be right there with you,
And I knew it when I first heard your name.

Every night I wake up with the moonlight shining on my memory,
I close my eyes and I'm right there with you,
Every single thought that passed, passed on lasted,
Lost in love while carrying the pain it was right there with you,
But everything is changing you're still on my mind,
And I don't know if I will be the same,
My love, my life, I want to be right there with you,
And I knew it when I first heard your name.

I only want to be beside you,
If another day slips away without you,
I'll lose the gift of happiness and joy without you in it,
I love you.

Every day I rise up, with the sunshine tapping on my window,
I close my eyes and I'm right there with you,
Every single step that I've taken, fallen,
Dancing, laughing, crying in the rain, it was right there with you,
But everything is changing your still on my mind,
And I don't know if I will be the same,
My love, my life, I want to be right there with you,

And I knew it when I first heard your name,
And I knew it when I first heard your name,
And I knew it when I first heard your name.
