

Ettison Clio

"Chapter Nine"

Visit "Chapter Nine" on MotoLyrics.com

oh, the beginning of a day struggling to remain awake when the world is freezing cold now the walls are caving in icy fingers gripping skin in a silent greeting it's happening again forgot who i've been is it better to go numb than to feel this warm? so what?
you're hearts been broken mere flesh wound in comparison to mine i'm fine i'll get by just remembering year from now this won't mean a thing today deserves my company the past is past and we can't ever change a thing this is all i have to give but it's good enough to get me through winter's kiss, like poison running through my veins straight to my head frozen lips so fatal killing off all feeling i once had

this is all i have to give
is it good enough to get me through?
this is all i have to give
but it's good enough to get me through i'll just hold on
i know, i know, i know
i'll just hold on
i know, i know, i know
broken mirrors alter my perception clouded eyes diminish their deception focus shadowed, faulty by design but this fever melts through the ice inside

Visit Ettison Clio page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.